

Word has it and rumors spreading that Caprice Bourret, the model that has appeared in the vogue and cosmopolitan covers, has undergone a plastic surgery. Caprice who is an American model and a part time actress moved to further her career in the mid 1990's to Britain. Seemingly, the plastic surgery really played a role with career.

"It appears that she may have had Rhinoplasty, lip and cheek augmentation and Botox as well as breast augmentation" - Dr. Douglas A. Taranow, a board certified plastic and reconstructive surgeon in New York City, highly regarded among both patients and peers alike.

Caprice Bourret breast implants before and after

To boost her career, Caprice seems to have undergone Breast augmentation with implants of saline implants or huge chunks of silicone from Natrelle or Mentor makers. She also seems to have had a nose job as her nose fits perfectly to her face and looks cute.

